Submission for the 2023 OUTLOOK™ Innovation India Award

Deadline for submission – 28th December 2022

The OUTLOOK™ Innovation India Award honours innovative products and services designed in or specifically intended for the Indian markets.

Companies can nominate either a nonwoven or nonwoven-based product, raw material, component or service for the personal care and hygiene sectors, which has been developed, designed, manufactured and/or is on sale in India. Nominations can be from any point along the supply chain.

Short-listed companies will be contacted and will be given time to present their innovation to the delegates during the conference. Conference delegates will then vote on-site for the winner which will be announced during the cocktail.

Press coverage

All qualifying entries will be publicized in a special press release before OUTLOOK™ India 2023. The winner will be highlighted in the press release closing the event.

To learn more about the conference, or to register as an attendee, visit the event page:
